Dear Alumni and Friends,

On behalf of the campus community, welcome back to Colgate. We are honored to welcome you for Reunion 2024 — to celebrate, in person, our first fully coeducational alumni class and all of the friendships, affections, and memories that often draw you here in spirit.

As you will see all around you, Colgate is moving forward with priorities outlined in the Third-Century Plan. Among them are a number of new building projects, including Bernstein Hall, at the heart of a reimagined Middle Campus. Looking up the hill, you will notice work on Peter’s Glen, which promises to connect the Upper and Middle campuses while stewarding the University’s environs. To the west, the first initiatives of our Lower Campus plan are underway at 66 and 70 Broad Street.

I hope that these sights provide you all with a sense of Colgate’s momentum, ambition, and determination.

Again, welcome back. Thank you for joining us, and best wishes for a memorable weekend at Colgate. We hope you return home feeling even more connected to your alma mater and your classmates.

Sincerely,

Brian W. Casey
President

What Is the Solar System Made Of? Lessons From Meteorites and Returned Samples From Near Earth Asteroids.

Meteorites and the asteroid parent bodies that they come from are some of the fundamental building blocks of the solar system, including the terrestrial planets. They record the earliest history of the solar system, including the first geologic processes involving water and organic carbon. In this talk, Tim Glotch will review what we've learned from carbonaceous chondrite meteorites as well as samples returned by two missions to near-Earth asteroids -- the Japanese space agency's (JAXA's) Hayabusa2 mission and NASA's OSIRIS-REx mission.

Fifty Years On: What Has Changed, or Hasn't, in US Immigration and Refugee Resettlement Since 1974

Ellen Kraly, William R. Kenan Jr. Professor of Geography and Environmental Studies Emerita

Issues of US immigration were emerging in the 1970s within the context of environmental concerns and global "overpopulation." Undocumented migration gained traction as a crisis confronting the country and the Vietnam War raised issues of US responsibilities toward refugees. How are issues of immigration and refugee resettlement different between that era and 2024? Members of the audience will be asked to consider their experiences at Colgate in comparison to the current landscape of US immigration and global displacement.

Anti-Semitism in a Post-October 7th World

Jill Goltzer Munding '14

In 2023 the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) tabulated 8,873 anti-Semitic incidents across the US. This represents a 140% increase compared to the year before and is the highest number on record since the ADL began tracking anti-Semitic incidents in 1979. The dramatic increase in incidents took place primarily in the period following the October 7, 2023, Hamas terrorist attacks in Israel. What are some of the trends we're seeing in these anti-Semitic incidents and attitudes? How is this impacting younger generations in their everyday environments — both online and offline — and how is the ADL helping to combat this hate? Lesleigh Cushing, Provost and Dean of the Faculty; Murray W. and Mildred K. Finard Professor in Jewish Studies, and Professor of Religion, will be providing the introduction for this session.

Descriptions of Shows

Faster Than Light* (Friday, 4 p.m.)

The impulse to strike out into the unknown, to see what's over the horizon ... is as old as humanity. Today, a whole new horizon beckons. Scientists now believe that our galaxy is filled with solar systems, including up to nine billion Sun-like stars with planets similar to Earth. Astronomers are racing to find habitable worlds, including any that might exist in the neighborhood of our Sun. But if we find one, how will we ever get there? How long will it take? What rocket designs might one day conquer the voids of space? Faster Than Light: The Dream of Interstellar Flight will dazzle audiences with virtual rides aboard spacecraft of the future. They are based on whole new technologies designed to achieve ultra-high speeds, using exotic next-generation rocket fuels and breakthrough concepts in physics. How far can our technology take us?

Expedition Reef* (Friday, 5 p.m.)

Narrated by Tony Award winner Lea Salonga, the all-digital Expedition Reef immerses you in the undersea adventure. Along the way, discover how corals grow, feed, reproduce, and support over 25% of all marine life on Earth — while facing unprecedented threats from climate change, habitat destruction, and overfishing.

Stars Over Colgate* (Friday, 6:30 p.m., and Saturday, 4 p.m.)

Sit back and enjoy the night sky as it looks from Colgate. We will take you on a journey through constellation stories and wonders of the night sky.

Destination Solar System (Kids Show)* (Saturday, 10 a.m.)

In Destination Solar System, passengers will travel hundreds of millions of miles in just seconds on an adventure-filled tour led by Jesse, an enthusiastic, knowledgeable — but inexperienced — tour guide, and Max, a highly advanced, fully integrated onboard computer. Tours of the hottest hot spots and the coldest, stormiest, and most spectacular sights in the solar system await curious space explorers of all ages.

We Are Stars* (Saturday, noon)

We Are Stars, narrated by Andy Serkis, seeks to answer some of the biggest questions of all time. What are we made of? Where did it all come from? Explore the secrets of our cosmic chemistry, our explosive origins, and connect life on Earth to the evolution of the Universe. A family-friendly film full of fun, adventure, and enlightenment.

Life: A Cosmic Story* (Saturday, 1 p.m.)

How did life on Earth begin? Take a high-speed tour of key events since the Big Bang that set the stage for life. Starting with the first stars and ending with the tremendous biological diversity on Earth today, Life: A Cosmic Story shows how the human pedigree is actually 13.7 billion years in the making. Narrated by Oscar-winning actress Jodie Foster.

Black Holes* (Saturday, 2 p.m.)

The immensity and power of black holes inspire wonder and curiosity. As we consider these stellar enigmas, the very nature of space time is warped as we approach. The mass of a large star has collapsed and compressed into an area so small that space and time have no meaning within its bounds. Our journey also visits super-massive black holes of unfathomable size at the central point of galaxies. These hidden monsters constrain their entire galaxies around them in a kaleidoscopic gravitational dance.

Birth of Planet Earth (Saturday, 3 p.m.)

Birth of Planet Earth is a planetarium full-dome show that tells the twisted tale of our planet's origins. Scientists now believe that our galaxy is filled with solar systems, including up to a billion planets roughly the size of our own. The film employs advanced, data-driven, cinematic-quality visualizations to explore some of the greatest questions in science today: How did Earth become a living planet in the wake of our solar system's violent birth? What does its history tell us about our chances of finding other worlds that are truly Earth-like?

LONGYEAR MUSEUM OF ANTHROPOLOGY (315-228-6470)

Alumni Hall, second Floor

Thursday–Sunday: 9:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m.

Current exhibitions:

Creative Resolve: The Poisons and Passions at the Longyear Museum of Anthropology

This exhibition, co-curated by Longyear Curatorial Assistant Summer Frazier and Curatorial Intern Raquel Marquez-Guerrero '24, explores the different ways that art leverages the creative process to metabolize conflict or aggression. This healing manifests in various forms, ranging from redefining narratives to empathizing with personal or communal losses. These artists, working in media from 2D to 3D to street and graffiti art, intentionally confront discontent, fostering creative growth and finding solutions. In this context, their art becomes a means to process pain and to construct bridges amidst conflict. In addition to art, this exhibition also explores various ways that plants can be used in healing processes.

Hallway Case: Response Ability

Explore Response Ability curated by Summer Frazier on the second floor of Alumni Hall. Delve into a collection inspired by themes from Robin Wall Kimmerer's Braiding Sweetgrass, exhibiting themes of reciprocal relationships and Windigo economics. Sample lesson plans are available for faculty who would like to send their students on self-guided exploration.

Please visit colgate.edu/longyear for more information.

Dana Arts Center, second Floor

Thursday–Sunday: 10:00 a.m.–5 p.m.

Current exhibition:

Core / Collections: Let's Talk About It

This exhibition wants visitors to have conversations with works of art. It encourages asking questions, getting to know an artwork deeply, bringing others into the conversation, and perhaps learning a little more about oneself. Featuring a selection of recent acquisitions that highlight Picker Art Gallery's current collecting strategy, the exhibition models itself on Colgate's revised Core Curriculum by creating a space for open-ended inquiry, multiple ways of knowing, and generative dialogue. The artworks on display present diverse creative perspectives on historical and contemporary issues, ranging from resistance to state authority to the challenges of modernity to addressing environmental crises. What will you add to the conversation? Curated by Emma Barrison '24, Cindy Chen '24, and Wendy Wu '25.

Please visit colgate.edu/picker for more information.
